

"ALWAYS THERE"

Have you seen the wind?
How it makes the trees sway?
How it makes the water ripple across the pond
On a hot summer day or how it picks the leaves
Up from the ground and swirls them
Round and round?

But wait, did you really see the wind?
You saw the trees sway
And the rippling of the pond
And the leaves swirl,
And you've probably felt it touch your face
On a warm sunny day, but did
You really see it?

Even though you can't see the wind,
You believe it's there because of the things it does
And the way it moves the air.
Have you saw God? Because like the wind, he's unseen
But always there.

Have you ever wondered what makes a bird sing,
Or what makes a flower bloom in the spring?
Ever wonder what makes the grass turn
From brown to green?

What about the warm feeling you get inside,
When you help a friend have a better day
Or help a stranger along the Way?

Have you ever said kind words to a child,
And in return got a loving smile?
What about the blessing you got when
You put that extra dollar in the offering
Pot?

Have you ever knelt down in prayer and
Felt someone standing there?
You didn't really see anyone, but you knew they
Were there.

In the book of Psalms, David tells us
"The fool hath said in his heart there is no God."
You believe there's a wind. Why is it so hard to believe in God?

You believe there's a wind because of what it does.
Believe in God and watch what he can do.
Because, like the wind, he's unseen,

"But always there..."

Donald Henson
03/24/05